What is offered at IASIS Learning Center?

IASIS Learning Center is offering social instruction through drama/acting techniques for children with social deficits. It is recommend that social skill groups meet each week. If your child is not able to meet each week, there will be workshops offered during the year. The age ranges for social instruction groups will be 6-16 years of age. The Drama/Acting program is offered from August 1- May 30. Each group will have a maximum of 4 students. Students can enroll during any month of the year! Intake sessions start in July!

What does the social skill instruction include?

- ✓ The use of a “blue screen.” (Students can choose the background scene of their choice.)
- ✓ Monologues and skits are used to teach character development and to role-play different social situations.
- ✓ Interactive computer programs are integrated into lessons to teach appropriate social situations.
- ✓ Social skill instruction focuses on different social concepts such as: emotions, communicating appropriately in a conversation, learning “unwritten social rules in the classroom,” increase empathy towards others, elements of non-verbal language, and much more!
- ✓ Each student has his/her own client page so he/she can view the video clips that are recorded at each session. Session notes are also written each week by the instructor so parents can view what social techniques their child is learning, and to keep up with the child’s progress.
- ✓ Lessons are offered in groups as well as individual formats.
- ✓ An in-take session is scheduled to determine what social skills your child should work on during the sessions, and to determine which group your child should be placed into.

How much does the program costs?

The fee for registering your child for the social instruction acting program is $45.00. This includes a one-hour interview with you and your child, assessment, and program development. Parents will be given a questionnaire form to complete, and students will be given an informal assessment, which includes a student interview.

A monthly tuition of $150.00 will be payable in advance during the first ten days of each month. If your child is ill, or unable to attend their normally scheduled session, he/she will be able to have a make-up session at a different time. If there is no group that he/she can join for the make-up session, a 30 minute individual lesson will be offered. Payments that are made after the 10th of the month will incur a $10.00 late fee. You may pay on line (Pay-Pal), pay with check or with cash.

A sliding fee scale is available for the drama/instruction social skill program that is offered through the year. (Please see attached.) It does not apply to any workshop that is offered at IASIS.
